

Living Better with Stress

Programme Description

Have you ever felt that you needed a stress management course but were too stressed to take it? We live in a world where the word “stress” has become common language and where navigating our way through conflicting priorities and multi-tasking have become a way of life. This workshop will help you identify ways to cope with your own stress factors in order to improve your well-being. You will work on identifying your own symptoms, causes and responses to stress and learn how to live better with stress.

You Will

- Learn to recognize and examine the causes of stress in your life and your environment
- Identify stress symptoms, “alarm signals” and reactions
- Understand the stress mechanism: the alarm, adaptation and exhaustion phases
- Learn an approach for living better with stress which will include mental attitude, life and work hygiene principles and practical means: exercise, breathing, relaxation
- Learn easy-to-use exercises and techniques that will ensure a better work life balance
- Create your personal “Living better with stress” program and select exercises and techniques to practice every day

Intended Audience

All people who want to take control of their stress factors and improve their work-life balance

Workshop size 8-12 participants

Workshop Duration

Two versions are proposed:

1. one day, dealing with all the points mentioned above
2. two days: dealing with all the elements above, and adding more focus on: developing a positive mental attitude; developing healthy habits; improving work-life balance; increased resilience

Workshop Location

To be decided

Cost:

Per person,per day, training materials (electronic version), coffee breaks and lunch included: 650.- CHF